EIT CULTURE & CREATIVITY
POLICY CLUBWhat is the EIT Culture & Creativity Policy Club?

The Policy Club will support and initiate innovation in policies and administrations, frameworks and regulation regimes for the CCSI by fostering coordination and cross-fertilization of public administrations and political institutions. The Policy Club is a flagship initiative of the EIT Culture & Creativity.

What does it aim to achieve?

The Policy Club will work to overcome a traditional gap affecting CCSI across all policy domains: CCSI are often perceived as too business-oriented for cultural policy makers or too cultural-oriented for business policymakers. The Policy Club will bring together policymakers from different policy areas and governance levels to actively cooperate and engage to improve CCSI administration and policy agendas through cross-fertilization.

What are its objectives?

Over the next two years the Policy Club will engage in activities to mainstream innovation in frameworks for better CCSI focused policies, such as:

1. mutual exchange and learning,
2. joint experimentation / prototyping and
3. projects to implement or mainstream innovation for better CCSI focused policies.
